

US of A -My dream destination

America is the best place on earth! They have so many film stars and big cities to visit. The landscape is also very varied so they have mountains and canyons and big forests and lakes.

I love films and so going to Los Angeles to a film studio to see how they are made would be so cool. It would be good also to see the White House in Washington and try and spot President Obama - <http://www.whitehouse.gov/administration/president-obama>.

America is so important culturally to Australia and other English speaking countries. We get all their TV programmes and I know so much about America even though I have never been there.

I want to become a film director one day so I intend to get a job in America after I finish school. I just hope they have a place for me.
